FLOOR DEBATE

March 22, 2002      LB 1085

Governor wasn't playing tricks with us. I hope he's wrong there. I guess...was he? I don't know, and we'll find out, but I hope that scenario wasn't right that Senator Chambers painted there for us. And I guess we all get paid back for the things we do, right or wrong, in this world and I guess we'll find out here. But anyway, we have to do something. I guess we're back on the drawing board. Maybe the Revenue Committee should go back; maybe the Appropriations Committee should go back and look this over with, but I guess I would support what Senator Chambers said earlier. There are revenue income by income tax, you know. I support that also. I probably...secondly, I'll probably support income...or a sales tax increase, you know. A penny here, a penny there, we really don't miss it in the long run, and if it solves our problems for a sunset period, I guess I'm there; but for right now I really don't know what I'm going to do next. I wonder how many of the rest of you don't know what you're going to do next. Things are tough here. It's tough. And like I said the other day, we really have to do what, you know, what our mothers or fathers told us, you know. You have to do what you think is right. It boils down to that, do what you think is right, and the state will be okay. Thank you.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Janssen.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, members of the Legislature. On the bracket motion that we have just passed half an hour ago, all bets are off. I supported yesterday the $20 million cut in state aid which was going to put that back on the...the burden back on the property tax. Now with the $20 million that we're putting back to the property tax owner, all bets are off. I will not support that on Select File. Now we're going to look at hitting the people, the blue collar worker, the poor fellow and lady that are addicted to nicotine, they're going to pay more for a habit that they have, which they should get rid of but, I'm sorry, as long as that product is legal product, there are people that are going to use it. Now we're going to also let the schools go above the levy, another whack at the property tax owner. So as, I can't remember the comedian that...I think it was Laurel and Hardy that said, "That's a fine kettle of fish you got me into now, Stanley."
